Framboos Oogst 2019 nr11	Lambic	Also for Framboos we cannot mention the word 'bio' (i.e. organic) on the label anymore but: the raspberries used for this Framboos are 100% of Belgian organic produce from Ferme Framboos. Both from the 19 20 season.	Bottle	6.2%	12 x 375 ml	$323.25	$26.94	$307.09	$25.59

Tuverbol	Lambic	As you know Tuverbol is a beer made with Loterbol Blond (by Brouwerij Loterbol in Diest, Belgium owned by Marc Beirens) and 3 Fontein-lambik. Marc of Loterbol delivers his Loterbol Blond to us, we add the young lambik, bottle and cage it (lambik-bottle, 3 Fontein cage and cork) and have it refermented in our warm room for at least six months. Tuverbol is being released once a year, one batch. As Marc gets a lot of international requests we handle the international distribution and it can be ordered and delivered through us, together with our lambik	Bottles	9.7%	12	x	375	ml	$168.29	$14.02	$159.88	$13.32
Oude Geuze	Lambic	The magnum aged for almost two years now in the bottle and is the only Oude Geuze magnum of both season 18 19 and 19 20.	Bottle	7.2%	3	x	1500	ml	$181.41	$60.47	$172.34	$57.45
Doesjel	Lambic	Blend of 1-, 2- and 3-year old lambic, all fermented and lagered in oak barrels and vessels. With Doesjel, the wild fermentation of the young lambic did not continue throughout the bottle conditioning as the yeast "dozed in". This beer has no head, just like lambic so please don't panic.	Bottle	6.5%	6	x	750	ml	$131.45	$21.91	$124.88	$20.81
Druif Muscaris	Lambic	This Druif features the Muscaris variety, a crossing between Solaris and Muskateller. This rather young variety originates from the Freiburg region in Germany and combines an intense muscat bouquet with a higher sugar density than other Muscat varieties	Bottles	9.1%	6	x	750	ml	$262.73	$43.79	$249.59	$41.60
Druif Dornfelder-Kriek	Lambic	For this Druif/Kriek, we blended a Belgian dornfelder druivenlambik and a kriekenlambik in a 50/50 proportion. We used both young and two-year old lambikken, originating from nine different barrels and nine different brews. The combined maceration took eight months and the final fruit intensity is 510 grams per litre of sour cherries and freshly pressed, skin-macerated grape juice.	Bottles	8.3%	6	x	750	ml	$234.99	$39.17	$223.24	$37.21

Schaarbeekse Kriek Oogst	Lambic	For this Schaarbeekse Kriek, we macerated locally grown and manually harvested sour cherries for almost fourteen months in wooden barrels, with both one-year and two-year old lambik.	Bottle	7.5%	1	x	1500	ml	$117.23	$117.23	$111.37	$111.37

Frambozenlambik Oogst	Lambic	For this Frambozenlambik, we macerated raspberries from Ferme Framboos for four months on jonge lambik at a fruit intensity of 382 grams of raspberries per litre of lambik. Lighter in colour due to the applied maceration technique, the raspberry characteristics in aroma and taste of this Frambozenlambik present themselves while opening up. We let this Frambozenlambik rest for almost 18 months before releasing it.	Bottles	5.5%	6	x	750	ml	$250.09	$41.68	$237.59	$39.60
